

Free Python and Django workshops for women at PyCon Australia 2014

4th August 2014

About

Django Girls is an initiative that is aiming to introduce women who have never programmed before to the world of technology and open source development.

During PyCon AU 2014 in Brisbane, Australia we're inviting girls to join us for a one-day workshop on the first day of sprints. We'll be teaching them how to build the internet using HTML, CSS, Python and Django.

Target

Women who have never programmed before but are motivated to get in to a technology related field.

Date & place

Full day
4th August 2014
PyCon AU 2014, Brisbane
(we're a side PyCon AU event, not organized by PyCon AU)

Supporters

We already have several awesome coaches,
Django Software Foundation,
PyCon AU and PyLadies AU
on board!

TEAM

Django Girls Australia is being organised by Elena Williams, a member of the DSF with lots of experience organising technical events and a big passion for getting people involved with open source. She's also working closely with the European Django Girls Team: Ola Sendeck and Ola Sitarska.

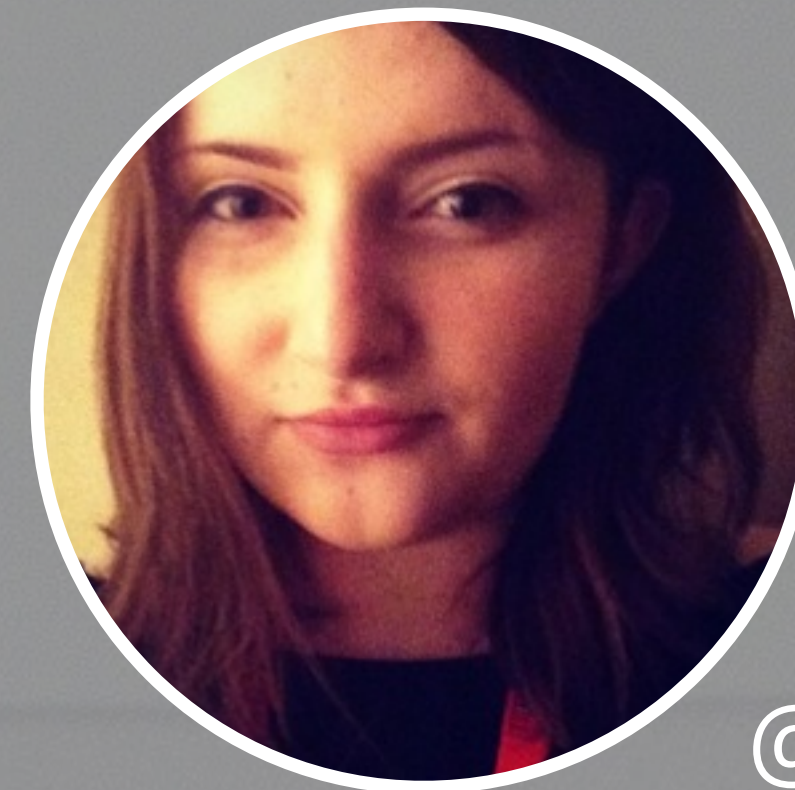

The event also has the full support of PyCon AU and DjangoCon AU as well as having lots of great coaches sign on.

SUPPORT US!

We're looking for organisations to support our goal of bringing more women into technology. Your money will go towards allowing us to have a space to run the event. We're also hoping for funding for event materials and resources, like books and cupcakes.

We want to help them grow and learn, and to make their first contact with both code and the programming community be a great experience.

SUPPORT US!

There are many ways you can help us. Here are a couple of examples of financial support!:

We're also interested in donations of merchandise and are flexible to what kind of support you might be interested in offering, such as a presentation from your organisation, or sponsoring a specific aspect of our event (such as t-shirts or cupcakes and coffee).

$ 500
